

PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Sho-Biz Intelligence Collectives LLC Officially Registered with New York State, Unveiling a Modern Data-Driven Ecosystem Tailored for Local and Niche Enterprises

Brooklyn, NY — September 10, 2025

Sho-Biz Intelligence Collectives LLC, an innovative corporate umbrella entity designed to bridge advanced data architecture, operational analytics, and community-centered business strategies, has officially received its formal Filing Receipt and legal entity registration approval from the New York State Department of State, effective September 9, 2025.

Operating commercially under the brand Sho' Biz Intelligence Collectives, the enterprise is establishing a modern infrastructure built specifically to provide small, niche, and local businesses with the high-tier data expertise, quantitative strategies, and financial clarity typically reserved for enterprise-level organizations. By integrating technical precision with deep cultural and local market intelligence, the firm addresses the critical administrative and visual data needs of modern independent operators.

The official approval of Sho-Biz Intelligence Collectives LLC establishes a centralized organizational structure engineered to govern multiple highly specialized, revenue-generating sub-brands and tactical initiatives.

Flagship Brand Launch: AI'ssist Book Pros

The primary operational focus of the immediate launch phase is the development and scaling of AI'ssist Book Pros as the ecosystem's premier flagship service framework. Positioned as a front-facing, high-utility initiative, AI'ssist Book Pros is being engineered to deliver local, data-informed bookkeeping, data integrity cleanups, complex spreadsheet automation, and proactive operational reporting specifically for small business owners in Brooklyn and across the greater New York City area.

"Small businesses are flooded with transactional data, but they rarely have the structural setups to transform that data into clear, actionable financial confidence," said the Founder and CEO of Sho-Biz Intelligence Collectives LLC. "In an era where artificial intelligence is widely deployed, the small business ecosystem is precisely where AI tools can deliver the highest utility—yet we consistently notice that independent operators are left behind due to a unique multitude of

Sho' Biz Intelligence Collectives/Sho-Biz Intelligence Collectives LLC

PO Box 170151 Brooklyn, NY 11217

+1 929 782 6168

<https://sho-biz.com> | contact@sho-biz.com

resource, time, and technical constraints. Through AI'ssist Book Pros, we are stepping into that gap with a warmth-driven, analytics-heavy approach. We are moving past traditional, backward-looking bookkeeping to give founders a clear, interactive visual blueprint of their numbers."

In tandem with its flagship bookkeeping analytics branch, the Sho' Biz Intelligence Collectives organizational matrix is built to scale across complementary vertical pillars, driving a diversified portfolio of service-based and productized revenue streams:

- Tax & Corporate Financial Advisory: Utilizing active federal and state credentialing to provide specialized, year-round tax compliance strategies, fractional reporting, and structured preparation bundles designed for independent contractors, freelancers, and growing businesses.
- Utility IP, Community, & On-Demand Analytics: Incubating technical assets like the Deliv-R-Ease App concept—focused on algorithmic optimization and data solutions for urban delivery workers—alongside direct professional consulting, global data engineering projects, and the development of Dilige Data, a budding community hub designed to connect, support, and resource data professionals of all skill levels.
- The Hip Hop Data Initiative: A long-term intellectual property and brand-building initiative focused on applying advanced data science, data visualization, and cultural analytics to historical and modern hip-hop trends, laying the groundwork for research partnerships and digital monetization.
- Cross-Cultural Localization Services: Housing niche operations, including Honcho Translation Services and Latte Sensei English, providing targeted direct translation, business localization, and tailored linguistic coaching for the New York Japanese community.

While currently finalizing its primary administrative setups, infrastructure integrations, and secure payment pathways through leading processors, Sho' Biz Intelligence Collectives is actively laying the foundation for strategic community partnerships and future client onboarding. The firm's long-term roadmap incorporates digital productized services, customized analytics dashboard templates, and local operational workshops designed to foster localized economic growth through technical literacy.

ABOUT SHO-BIZ INTELLIGENCE COLLECTIVES LLC

Sho-Biz Intelligence Collectives LLC (commercially recognized as Sho' Biz Intelligence Collectives) is a multi-disciplinary corporate umbrella and operational ecosystem based in Brooklyn, NY. Founded by an analytical strategist holding an MBA and an MSc in Data Analysis, the collective combines quantitative data systems, visual analytics, and localized community services to drive sustainable growth for small businesses and niche markets.